MQ Meetings
October 1997
Minnesota Quilters welcomes Erica Carter to the October evening and day meetings. At this Lecture Series meeting, Ericka Carter of Bellevue, Washington will present two inspiring lectures. On Thursday, October 2, we will hear "From Here to There." This is a slide presentation of the development of Erica's work, beginning with nature landscapes, progressing to transitional work and ending with abstract work. Her Friday morning lecture is "In the Beginning..."

Library lines

October has been declared Amnesty Month by the MQ Library staff. About 50-75 books are more than 3 months overdue. Please go through your quilt books and magazines and return MQ materials during the October meetings. No fines will be collected. They may also be mailed the Fourth Class Book Rate. Beginning in October, borrowing privileges for the chronically overdue may be withdrawn on a case-by-case basis.

On to better things—new books!! That Patchwork Place has sent us The Border Workbook by Janet Kime. This should really help those of you in the Round Robin groups. The illustrations are good, with several cat/kitty quilts. We also have Harriet Hargrave’s new book From Filler to Fabric. You’ll find out more than you ever thought to know about fabric making. The sections on testing fabric for fading, color retention, etc., are thorough.

Other new additions include The Passionate Quilter by Michelle Walker, Christmas Traditions From the Heart, Volume II by Margaret Peters, and Sewing for the Holidays from the Singer sewing reference library.

It has been suggested that we subscribe to Australian Patchwork & Quilting magazine. As the subscription is quite expensive, I would like to know if you think we should get it. At your quilt shop, the cost per issue is $6.95. Please call me and let me know what you want me to do.

Volunteers are always appreciated at both the evening & daytime meetings. The hours volunteered at the MQ Library count towards the Volunteer Pin.

Three books and four magazines may be checked out until the next meeting at Machinists Hall. They cannot be renewed. If you are unable to return them at the next meeting, please mail them Fourth Class Book Rate to Minnesota Quilters, 1399 Eustis Street, St. Paul, MN 55108. Fines for overdue material are $1.00 per item, per month. Please return items promptly.

This is YOUR library. If there is a book you want, please call me at 612/338-4360. A machine is waiting for your call.

Happy Quilting,

Peggy

Minnesota Quilters News

...is the monthly newsletter of the Minnesota Quilters, Inc., a non-profit organization formed to find and unite quilters and quilt enthusiasts throughout the state of Minnesota and elsewhere; dedicated to enhancing the knowledge and enjoyment of quilting. Membership Dues are $20.00 per year (U.S. funds only) and include monthly meetings tailored to suit the needs of beginning, advanced and professional quilters; the newsletter, workshop opportunities, and priority registration for the annual show. Minnesota Quilters pins are available for sale.

New Memberships, Renewals, and Changes of Address should be sent to: Mary Drabik, 4258 Highland, Shoreview, MN 55126. Watch for the expiration notice on your label. It will say: Please Renew. The number on the label indicates the month and year of expiration. Example: 0198 means that the membership ends January 1998.

Advertising Rates: Business card size ad (3” by 2.5”) is $15 per month, plus $5 per additional inch of length. Display ad is $5 for 3 lines. If ads must be composed by editor, there will be an additional $10 charge. Make checks payable to Minnesota Quilters, Inc. No ads will be included in the newsletter unless they are accompanied by full payment with the order and handwritten, typed or computer output copy. All ads must be received by the newsletter editor, Sue Rutford, 5085 Morehead Ave., White Bear Lake, MN 55110, by dates posted below.

The next issue of MQ News will be the November 1997 issue. The deadline for submitting ads and articles for MQ News is October 1, 1997.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES!

Assemble a quilt for Head Start
Head Start, a free, educational, fun, honorable, safe early learning opportunity for income eligible children ages 3 to 5, needs volunteers for a special quilting project. Supplies will be provided. The project consists of assembling (whether by hand or machine) blocks of material into a quilt top. Head Start will also provide the fabric if the quilters are willing to do sashing and a border. This quilt will be lightweight because its use will be of a display nature. Upon completion, the quilt, made up of squares representing various aspects of Head Start’s services, will grace the agency’s entryway for all who enter to see and enjoy. The quilt is a celebration of the service as well as a celebration of Head Start’s commitment to children and their families. If you’d like to help, please call Kathy Sandstrom at 783-4302.

The Great Saturday Quilting Bee

Quilt in the gallery as part of the "Q is for Quilts" exhibit at the Minnesota History Center in St. Paul.

Quilt groups of six to eight members will demonstrate quilting from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on the first and third Saturday of the month beginning October 18. Each group would quilt one Saturday only through October 1998.

Volunteer as a Facilitator to greet the visiting quilt groups and interpret the quilting process to visitors.

"Q is for Quilts" is a collaboration with the Minnesota Quilt Project and Minnesota Quilters and will showcase 14 quilts and their stories, shared by generous owners across Minnesota.

For more information on volunteering either as a quilt group or a facilitator, please call Jackie Maas, Volunteer Coordinator, Minnesota Historical Society, 612-296-2155.

NOTES FROM THE PRESIDENT

I ended my summer by spending a week at our cabin in the Arrowhead. It was so relaxing--no phone, no TV, just the birds and chipmunks for entertainment. My husband, Bob, named one of the chipmunks "Bully" because he gave him such a hard time while he was working the back yard. I brought three projects with me, two hand quilting and one appliqué, and a couple of books to read. We went for a couple of canoe rides and went fishing twice, didn't catch anything, just killed some bait. When my muscles would get tired from quilting I would read for a while. My friend Dori loaned me a book called "Stitches in Time," by Barbara Michaels. She said, "You'll love it, it's about an evil quilt." That didn't make any sense to me, how can a quilt be evil. But as I got into the book, some of the characters were archeologists and researchers who had studied women and their needlework in the 1800's and there was a theory that women sewed their souls into their quilts. The plot of the story revolved around a Bride's quilt that was exquisitely appliquéd and quilted but had very non-traditional patterns on it and appeared to have a gray film of dust on it. Early on in the story the quilt "possessed" one of the women--it turned out later that she had the same name as the girl who made the quilt. I really shouldn't tell you any more about the story, because if you decide to read the book I'll ruin it for you, let's just say it was very entertaining and educational. I'm not sure I buy the theory in the book, but I do have a theory of my own about why quilts affect us the way they do. About six years when my niece was in third grade her teacher was a want-to-be quilter and she decided to have her class do a study on quilts. Of course, Jennifer said right away, "My aunt is a quilter," so I was invited to come to the class with my quilts and give a talk. The kids were very enthusiastic and hung on my every word, but when I let them touch the quilts, it was fascinating--they seemed to become calmer, they just wanted to hold them. It seemed like the quilts were somehow having a physical effect on those children. That was all I could think about on the drive home, and then I realized--we're all affected that same way--just think about it. When you see a quilt, you are compelled to touch it, it makes you feel warm inside, calm, comforted. Some quilts have no effect at all; they are just pieces of fabric sewn together. I'm not sure that we sew our "soul" into our quilts but I do believe that we sew our love into them, and it is a never-ending supply. It is there forever to be shared with everyone who comes in contact with it for as long as it remains. Think about it.

Happy Quilting!

Time and time again
October 1997 - Judi Smith®

There have been a number of quilting revivals in the United States in the past 221 years. In the 1860’s, civil war broke out and quilting filled the hours while women waited for soldiers to come home. The next revival dates from the 1890’s. There seems to be no one event that started this revival, rather the 1890’s are referred to as the machine age. The toaster, vacuum cleaner, and other time-saving appliances were invented during this time.

The 1920’s and 1930’s saw the next upsurge in quilting. A number of events happened during this time, not the least of them the Great Depression, a time in which hand quilters were paid $1.00 per spool of thread used. Colors became softer when times got harder. After the war, America saw an upsurge in the economy, and it became cheaper to buy bed covers than to make them. Quilting was considered quaint and a sign that you were poor.

Then came the 50’s and the baby boom. Everyone seemed to spend their time raising children. But eventually kids grow up, and about that time the next quilting revival started. In Kansas Quilts and Quilters the revival is dated from 1968; most other authors have dated this revival from 1976, the year of the bicentennial.

We’ve all seen what this revival looks like. The crowds at the quilt shows, the fun of New Year’s Day sales at the quilt shops, the camaraderie of friends who enjoy the same hobby you do and the fun of creating something useful and worthwhile.

But in every other revival, there was a slowing down of interest in quilting. It makes you wonder when this quilting revival will end. Two years ago when the top ten list of quilt shops came out, there were 386 other shops listed in the back of the magazine. When the latest issue came out, there were 275 quilt shops listed. Did they just not publicize this as well, so there were less shops listed, or did that many shops close in the last two years? When Dave went out to New York he was going to ride over to Westfield to pick me up some fabric—they were closed. When we drove back from Arkansas in the spring, the shop in Lamoni, Iowa was closed. Was this just a coincidence, or is this a trend? What does the future of quilting look like?

Artwear in Motion Show at the Textile Center

Some exciting advancements have been made for our annual fund-raiser, the Textile Center's first-ever wearable art show, Artwear in Motion. From nominations made by Textile Center members, thirty-four leading area artists were selected to show their work. The featured artists include some who are nationally and internationally renowned in their genres.

Artwear in Motion and the Artwear Boutique will take place on Sunday, October 5. The boutique and the show reception will begin at 1:30 PM. The runway event will start at 3:00 PM, and tickets are available for advance sales. Artwear in Motion is the Textile Center's annual fund-raiser, so your financial and volunteer support is vital. Please join us; we are expecting a fabulous event. Tickets are $35.00 in advance, $40.00 at the door. Call Margaret Miller at 722-8054 to order.

Q is for Quilts: A New Exhibit at the Minnesota History Center

Quilters of the late nineteenth century nearly always made at least one blue-and-white quilt. They often combined a range of indigo blue fabrics, their best quilting skills and sometimes an original design, as this quilt exemplifies. Sarah Ann Bemis Gates of Hebron, Minnesota made this quilt in 1887 as a wedding gift for her youngest daughter Ida, soon to be Mrs. John Page. This beauty is just one of 14 quilts featured in "Q is for Quilts," a new mini-exhibit at the Minnesota History Center opening October 18.

The exhibit will be a stunning kaleidoscope of quilt patterns, colors, fabrics, and stories from the late 1840s through the 1990s, providing a unique perspective on quilters' contributions to Minnesota and national history. Visitors can explore "Quilting Through Time," an illustrated time line stretching from log cabin quilts to the AIDS quilt. The exhibit offers opportunities to listen to contemporary women talk about the value of quilts and quilting and to piece together quilt patterns. On two Saturdays a month during the first year of the exhibit, quilt groups from around the state will create The Great Saturday Quilting Bee in the gallery, with audience participation encouraged.

The Minnesota Quilt Project—part of a nationwide effort that has documented over 175,000 quilts since 1981—will be also be highlighted in "Q is for Quilts." Almost 700 volunteers have spent the last 10 years collecting quilters' biographies and oral histories along with documenting 3,500 quilts in private and public collections around the state. MQP volunteers "discovered" the 14 featured quilts in this exhibit as part of Quilt Discovery Days, events held in 41 Minnesota communities between 1988 and 1997. This exhibit is a collaboration of MHS, the Minnesota Quilt Project, Minnesota Quilters, Inc., and the Minnesotans across the state who generously loaned their quilts.

"Q is for Quilts," part of the History Center exhibit Minnesota A to Z, will be in place from 1997 to 2005 and will highlight a new set of quilts each year. During this time, watch for notice of additional programs and demonstrations on quilting and family heirlooms. For more information, call Loris Connolly, MHS exhibit curator at (612)297-7706.
Second Annual Fall Retreat
Solbakken Resort
Lutsen, Minnesota
November 14, 15, & 16, 1997

Come to the scenic North Shore of Lake Superior and spend a cozy weekend with us. This year we are having a mystery weekend; Jackie Northrup will be guiding us through a 42" by 42" Christmas wall hanging. We will begin with an informal get-together at 7 PM on Friday and then we will start cutting our fabrics for the mystery. The fee includes room, class, continental breakfast and lunch on Saturday and continental breakfast on Sunday. Please bring something to share for a potluck dinner on Saturday. Our Lodge Suites and Cabins have fully equipped cabins, the Motel Units have kitchenettes. Our Lodge has a large lounge area and gift shop, and the coffee pot is always on. The fee for the weekend is $75. Please feel free to arrive any time after 2 PM on Friday, and to stay as long as you like on Sunday. Our phone number is 1-800-435-3950.

Please send registration and fee to:
